CONSTITUTION AND SUN.

From Yesterday's Evening Edition.

ATLANTA, JULY 24, 1873.

Summary of State News.

GRIFFIN.

On Saturday afternoon, Branch Bowdoin, shot at a negro man on Hill street Nobody hurt.——Mr. Aaron Schuerman, one of the moneyed men of Griffin, is going to transfer a ball in that place into a first-class theater. The scenery and equipments will all be of the very latest styles.——The colored people of Griffin will have a camp-meeting about the first of August. They have bought a grove on the edge of town, and intend erecting an harbor on it.—News.

AUGUSTA.

Last Sunday morning a lady on Greene street discovered that some one had stolen from the top drawer of her bureau two valuable diamond rings, and a plain gold ring, all worth about $400. On Monday morning the door-bell was rung by some unknown persons, and the rings discovered on the door-mat. It is supposed that a servant stole them, and then became frightened.——Two excursion trains heavily loaded went down to Milledgeville from Augusta on Sunday to hear Bishop Gross preach one of his great sermons. The money realized will be appropriated to a Catholic church to be built in Milledgeville.——On Monday, as the up train on the Port Royal Railroad was running at its usual rate, two negro girls attempted to cross the track about 1½ miles this side of Ellenton. One of them was knocked down by the cow-catcher. Her right leg was broken, her left leg injured, and one of her eyes wounded. She was taken on the train, and everything done to ease her sufferings. Chronicle and Sentinel.

COLUMBUS.

The colored people excurt to Atlanta on Thursday.——The railroad warehouse at Geneva, and the stores of Gus McCrary, and A. T. Chandler were broken into on Sunday night. A colored boy was shot at, but no one as yet caught.—Enquirer.

Two Columbus amateurs went out hunting on Monday. They mistook each other's hats for patridges. During the next ten minutes there was some of the poorest shooting and liveliest dodging on record. The young gentlemen returned home by different routes. They consider light colored hats very unfit for hunting purposes.

A negro woman of Columbus ate for her Sunday dinner half a bushel of green peas, and a few pounds of dried fruit, besides intermixing them with some dozen or so glasses of beer. The explosion occurred precisely at four o'clock that afternoon. Her afflicted family buried what could be found of her in a sardine box.

FLOYD.

Floyd Superior Court began its session Monday morning, Hon. J. W. H. Underwood, presiding.——Julia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gwaltney, died on Monday evening.—Commercial.

Mrs. Freeman, of Cave Spring, found a negro man in one of the rooms of her house Monday morning. He attempted to escape, but the brave lady caught him by the arm and cried for help. The negro then jumped out of the window, dragging the lady after him. She, however, clung to him until help arrived and the rascal was taken into custody.—Courier.

AMERICUS.

The brightest jewel in the crown that encircles Americus is its modesty. A dealer in underwear in that place of delicate sensibilities advertises them as "male and female envelopes."

BAINBRIDGE.

On last Tuesday night Messrs. S. M. Patterson & Co., were burglarized to the tune of three hundred pounds of ham and bacon and one hundred and fifty pounds of flour. The rogues are as yet unknown.——There is a man residing near Bainbridge who has on hand a portion of his corn crop of 1871, and the entire crop of 1872. That man's smoke-house is full, and his pocketbook is fat.—Sun.

LUMPKIN.

The crops are suffering very much for want of rain, and complaints of dry weather are numerous. Corn is "firing" very rapidly, and will be seriously injured unless rain falls in a few days.——The Lumpkin negroes arrange each other's heads with combs.——A little daughter of Dick Everett, colored, who lives just north of Lumpkin, was bitten on the leg Wednesday night by a snake, thought to be an adder. She is under medical treatment with a good prospect of recovery.—Independent.

SAVANNAH.

Justice J. J. Abrams, while sculling his little boat in Skidaway River last Sunday had the misfortune to be upset in the middle of the river, and came near being drowned. He was saved by some gentlemen who witnessed the accident.

The 21st of July being the anniversary of the battle of Manassas, was celebrated in Savannah by a grand parade of all the military organizations. There was a prize drill between the Blues and the Cadets, and a sabre contest by the Hussars. The Cadets won on the drilling contest. In the latter, the first prize was won by General Anderson, the second by private Ryals, and the third by Lieutenant Miller. The day was spent generally in dancing and merriment.—Advertiser and Republican.

☞ The California papers say that the "coming man" has been delayed on account of the suppression of free passes.

THE MODOC TRIALS.

Captain Jack and Others Arraigned for the Murder of the Commissioners.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The Military Commission appointed to try Captain Jack and others concerned in the murder of General Canby and Dr. Thomas, the Peace Commissioners, have concluded their labors. They met at Fort Klamath on the 5th inst., and closed the proceedings on the 9th. The verdict is believed to be that the accused Indians are guilty of the charges, although nothing is known yet of the decision of the Commission. The main facts connected with the massacre are so well known that no detailed account of the evidence is necessary. The Modocs arraigned were Captain Jack, Schonchin, John, Boston Charley, Black Jim, Sholocks and Bonchew.

Whatever findings may have been had in their case will be sent immediately to Gen. Schofield and to Washington, and will not be given to the public until action has been taken upon them by these authorities. The witnesses for the prosecution were T. F. Riddle, the interpreter, and Mrs. Riddle, his Indian wife, Peace Commissioners Dyar and Meacham, and the Modocs Shack Nasty Jim, Steamboat Frank, Bogus Charley, Charley, Hooka Jim, and William. The evidence showed that from warnings given by Hooka Jim to Riddle previous to the meeting, there was every reason to believe that the Peace Commissioners would be attacked. Riddle and Mrs. Riddle so informed the Commissioners, who, however, determined to proceed to the place.

The Indians who were found at the council tent were eight in number: Captain Jack, Schonchin, John Black Jim, Ellen's Man, Boston Charlie, Bogus Charlie, Shack Nasty Jim and Hooker Jim. Three other Indians, bearing guns, came out of the rocks shortly after the talk commenced. The evidence established that after the delivery of the speeches by captain Jack, General Canby, Dr. Thomas and Mr. Meacham, and while Schonchin was speaking, Captain Jack cried, "Hetceet!" ('all ready!") and fired at Canby. Ellen's Man also fired at Canby. Schonchin shot at Meacham; Hooker Jim chased and shot at Dyar; Boston Charley shot Mr. Thomas. The parts played by the other accused Indians were not so prominent. Sholocks knocked Mrs. Riddle down and attempted to take her horse, while Shack Nasty Jim, Bouchew, and Ellen's Man, all three of whom came out of the rocks, chased Riddle. When Mrs. Riddle was struck Captain Jack ordered Sholocks to let her alone. The evidence of Shack Nasty Jim and the other Modoc witnesses for the prosecution who were present at the Massacre corroborated what had been sworn to by Riddle and his wife, Dyar and Meacham. They further testified that they had heard Captain Jack and Schonchin talking over the matter some ten days before the massacre, and also on the day previous to and on the morning of the event. They all admitted that they knew of the purpose to kill the Commissioners. At the end of each witness' testimony the evidence was read to the prisoners, who were asked if they wished to ask any question, but they invariably declined to say anything.

The accused Indians had no counsel, and seemed to rely entirely for justice upon the Commission. Evidence for the defense commenced on the third day, when, at Captain Jack's request, Dave, Mose, and Scarfaced Charley were brought in, ironed, to testify. Nothing of any immediate advantage to the prisoners was developed by their testimony, which was merely a narrative of the sayings and doings of the Klamath Indians in connection with the Modocs since the beginning of the trouble. The sum of their testimony was that the Modocs were incited to resistance by the Klamaths. Dave and Mose, among other things, swore that La Lakes, a Klamath, told them that the soldiers wanted to get Jack out for the purpose of making peace, and that they would then burn him.

Captain Jack made a long speech in his own defense. He said that before the trouble he was living near Yreka and was a "good Indian," so known to all the whites, lived like the whites, subsisted upon what he could kill and catch, and never begged. He denied any responsibility for the war, and declared that he always wanted to live at peace. He was finally driven to the lava bed by the attacks made by the soldiers on his people. While in the lava bed he still desired peace and, because he advocated it, the other Indians would call him "squaw." He also said that he knew the whites would hold him responsible for what was done, as he was the chief.

The above contains the substance of all the testimony, both for the prosecution and for the defense, which was forthcoming during the trial.

Alabama News.

The Clayton County Fruit and Floral Fair opened on Tuesday. Special trains run from Eufaula. Among other features was a grand tournament, which came off to-day (Wednesday.)

Two car-loads of iron have been received at Montgomery for the street railroad, and the work will be pushed forward immediately.

The cholera has almost entirely disappeared from Birmingham.

The worms are spreading all over the cotton belt of Alabama, and are now webbing up preparatory to their grand and destructive charge in the next three or four weeks. With rains at the best part of the season, and worms when the cotton begins to develop, the prospect for much of a crop in Alabama is slim.

SPANISH AFFAIRS.

PETITION OF SPANISH "LOYALISTS."

HAVANA, July 23.—The Spanish Conservatives of Havana sent to Madrid by the last mail steamer a petition to be presented to the Cortes, in which they pray that so long as a single armed rebel remains who cries death to the Spaniards, and until a sufficient time has elapsed for the complete establishment of tranquility in the island of Cuba, no reforms be introduced, such as are likely to produce disturbances which would only be favorable to the rebels.

The petition is signed mostly by wealthy Spaniards and slaveholders and their dependants. The Republicans' Committee sailed to day for Spain to lay their cause before the Cortes. They ask for more reform—especially liberty of the press, the abolition or modification of the censorship, and the practical enjoyment of a Republican form of government here as well as in Spain.

Respectfully, GUTHMAN & HAAS.

ATLANTA, GA., July 1, 1873.

Messrs. Guthman & Haas, Atlanta, Ga.:

GENTLEMEN—This will certify that I have made a thorough chemical examination of the "Crescent Brewery" Lager Beer received of you a few days ago. I find the article free from injurious substances, drugs, etc.; the bitter principle being due to pure hop resin. The analysis herewith affixed exhibits the quantities of the main proximate constituents, and compares favorably with the analyses of the best foreign beers and ales.

I am very truly yours,
WM. J. LAND, Analytical Chemist.

BRILLIANT SUCCESS!

THE NASHVILLE REPUBLICAN BANNER.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED NEWSPAPER IN TENNESSEE.

IF YOU WISH TO SUBSCRIBE TO A FIRST-class daily, tri-weekly or weekly family newspaper, take the NASHVILLE REPUBLICAN BANNER, issued from the Capital and commercial center of Tennessee—the oldest established paper in Tennessee, enjoying the largest circulation, and conceded to be the best newspaper, in all respects, published South of the Ohio. It has acquired distinction with the public and among its contemporaries, for its enterprise in securing the freshest news and the concise and convenient manner of presenting it; for its accuracy as a market reporter; for the progressive spirit and conservative tone of its political teachings; for being a live, independent and sincere political journal, thoroughly identified with the political and material interest of its State and section. It gives 10,000 words of telegraph, from all parts of the world daily—the best market report, the freshest local news—and its originality is its distinctive specialty.

The BANNER will strive to keep pace with the progress of the times and to be an accurate and life-like exponent of all occurring around us. It will note all affairs of National, State or local interest, and all the interesting events occurring in the country at large and abroad. It will contain full reports of the next Tennessee General Assembly and proceedings of the next Congress, which everybody will wish to see. As a vehicle for the transmission of news and intelligence on every subject, it will commend itself to readers of all shades of political faith. Its editorial corps is large and composed of writers who have made journalism a profession, their particular department a specialty, and who bring to their labors the earnestness which results from its being their life-long calling. Neither labor nor expense will be spared to obtain the latest intelligence, whether local, domestic or foreign, and a liberal use of the telegraph will make each issue a compact and comprehensive history of the "world's doings." As a newspaper it will be surpassed by none in life and enterprise. In tone and sympathies and aims, it will be as conservative as from the beginning of its career. We shall go on as we have begun, and we hope the public, as far as the mails that communicate with us are concerned, will go on as it has begun. The Banner for the coming twelve months will be an improvement on the last. We design it for the best newspaper within reach of its circle of patrons and leave the issue to their kind opinion.

THE TRI-WEEKLY BANNER will contain the cream of the news of the Daily with its telegraphic dispatches and market reports.

THE WEEKLY BANNER, a complete compendium of the news of the Daily and Tri-Weekly issues, will be a first-class family Literary journal—an instructive and entertaining weekly visitor to the Family Circle.

The several editions of the Republican Banner are issued from the office at the following terms of subscription:

TATE SPRINGS,
East Tennessee.

TATE SPRINGS are situated in the beautiful and fertile Bean's Station Valley, one and a half miles from Clinch Mountain, and ten miles from Morristown, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, from which point a daily mail is received. They are surrounded by magnificent mountain scenery, in one of the highest and driest sections in East Tennessee, in the immediate vicinity of Chalybeate, Alum, Red, White and Black Sulphur Waters, and, all things considered, we are bound to acknowledge in this, as in all nature, the superior wisdom of the Creator in locating this inestimable blessing to mankind.

MEANS OF ACCESS.

Arrangements have been made with the principal railroads South for round trip tickets, which may be obtained at all the large cities and towns.

DAILY LINE OF HACKS.

Contracts are made with competent and responsible parties to run a daily line of hacks from Morristown to the Springs. The hacks will be new, and of the most comfortable and modern styles, gotten up expressly for this line. They are to meet all passenger trains at the depot, and look after the comfort and accommodation of all persons passing over their line. The hacks make their trips in day time.

Ladies and families traveling alone will be especially looked after and cared for, and their baggage also.

Hacks leave the Turley House immediately after the arrival of trains. By this means any Express or other packages can be conveyed to or from Morristown to the Springs.

ACCOMMODATIONS.

The accommodations are still being extended, so that we hope to be prepared to entertain all of our guests comfortably. Among the new improvements are—

A spacious Ball Room.
A series of Bath Rooms.
The Grounds are much improved.
A Livery Stable well stocked.

The Proprietors claim to have superior advantages over any preceding season, having all their public rooms ready at the opening of the season, a good stock of supplies on hand, and an experienced class of servants employed.

The rooms are principally cottage, with porches, fire places, and wardrobes or closets.

Good Bowling Alleys for gratuitous use of guests. In addition to which we expect to have a Band of Music.

The Proprietors assert their determination to spare no trouble or expense to render guests comfortable and to promote their improvement.

ATLANTA:

THURSDAY, JULY 24, 1873.

To Subscribers.

Daily and weekly subscriptions are pouring in from all quarters. Clubs are coming in daily.

☞ Mayor Estes' census shows that Augusta contains 19,985 people, or nearly 5,000 more than the population accredited to that city by the last United States census. Twenty-one policemen completed the enumeration in three days, but the footings are not far enough advanced to show all the facts ascertained by this volunteer effort to get right on the record. Augusta's big busy mills keep her moving along the upward road of progress.

King Cholera on His Travels.

The "prevailing" has nearly disappeared from its old haunts. Colonel Powell, Mayor of Birmingham, writes on the 19th, that there has not been a case in his city for three days. The disease is raging fearfully in Union City, Tennessee, and a few cases have occurred at Midway; but from elsewhere in the State no bad reports are coming in.

On Sunday twenty-five hundred colored people gathered at St. Paul's Church in Nashville, to offer praise and thanksgiving for the abatement of cholera in that city and its general subsidence throughout the State. Rev. N. G. Merry presided. No race has better reason to render thanks to the Almighty for its disappearance, for to them it proved a destructive scourge. Seven hundred of them out of a total of twenty-five thousand persons in Davidson county, were swept into the grave. One night during the late epidemic seventeen of their dead lay out upon their cemetery for want of burial, which was not consummated until the following morning, few being willing to serve in the capacity of grave-diggers in such an emergency. The meeting to them was therefore of great interest.

Fewer reports of the prevalence of the scourge come from Kentucky, and more from Missouri, Southern Indiana and Ohio. A little town in the northeastern part of Missouri, called Louisiana, and Mt. Vernon in Indiana, have suffered about as bad as Gallatin or Greenville. The disease is said to prevail at Troy, Hannibal and many other places in Missouri. It is traveling chiefly in the North and West.

The State of Jackson.

A convention is to be held at Jackson, Tennessee, on the 29th instant, for the purpose of promoting the organization of a new State from parts of Mississippi and Tennessee. The matter has elicited much discussion in the territory most interested, and it is expected that nearly every one of the counties embraced in the scheme will be represented by delegates at the convention.

It is proposed to annex to West Tennessee those counties of Mississippi north of the Tallahatchie river. This would take from the latter State the counties of Tunica, De Soto, Panola, Marshall, Benton, Union, Tippah, Alcorn, Prentiss, Tishmingo, and perhaps others. Everybody in Mississippi seems to favor the project. The whites in Northern Mississippi are to a man for it, because it will relieve them of a negro domination that promises to grow worse rather than better, And the blacks, or more accurately, their carpet-bag manipulators, are agreeable, because there would then be none to molest or make them afraid. The whole territory affected, with the exception of what would be left of Tennessee, is as willin' as Barkis ever was to give the new State a good "go-off."

In this matter we have the outcroppings of a movement that is diametrically opposed to Beauregard's dismal project of black fraternization. If the State of Jackson reaches a consummation, it means a segregation, and not an unification, of the two races. It means that Jackson will be a State governed by the whites, and that Mississippi is to be handed hopelessly over to the spoiler. The Memphis Appeal, in a recent issue, gives a very careful statement of this segregation of races and its results. The tendency of the Africans is to the lowlands, and of the whites to the hills. The whites, it says, flock to the villages and cities and build new towns among the hills, while the negroes pour steadily into the lowlands, where their toil is most profitable, and where they will ultimately monopolize the cotton and sugar-growing plantations. Where they concentrate the taxes for the support of negro schools and office-holders are so onerous that real estate becomes a burden, and the whites are virtually forced out.

The movements necessary to produce this segregation, says the St. Louis Republican, are simpler than some might imagine: A withdrawal of the whites from Florida and the lower parts of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, and the withdrawal of the blacks from the upper parts of these States—a movement which is even now slowly going on—would accomplish it.

Viewed in this light the effort to organize the new State is one of deep interest to the whole country, and especially to the South. It is a practical attempt to settle the conflict between the races, so far as the State of Mississippi is concerned, by segregation, and may lead the way to a settlement of the irritating and dangerous struggle in one or two other States.

A Silver Lining to the Black Cloud.

A woman of this city, who bears the name among the police of being a veritable tigress and utterly lost to all sense of shame, a few years ago had playing around her house a pretty, flaxen-haired little girl. It was the only pleasant spot in the woman's life, the only thing on earth that she cared for; but when the child came to a thinking age she was put away, and although the mother yearned for her offspring, yet her love for her was too great to allow personal pleasure to get the better of anxiety for the child's welfare. And so the little girl went away from her home of sin, and was placed in a convent in Canada to be educated. There she grew up to be a beautiful and accomplished young lady. She never went home, as did her schoolmates, and often, perhaps, wondered at the mystery surrounding her mother's life.

Under the Christian teachings of the pious sisters the girl became as good as she was beautiful; but one day her mother was hastily summoned to Canada, for her daughter was taken ill, and in a few days she died. One of the finest monuments in St. Agnes Cemetery rears itself over the grave of this pure and honored daughter of the famous courtesan. Nowhere do the flowers bloom sweeter than upon her resting place, and every week or two a poor abandoned woman makes there a weary pilgrimage to dampen with her tears the grave of her much-loved child. Although she still continues her infamous career, yet this simple circumstance indicates a silver lining to the black cloud of her life, and gives hope of a future Magdalen.

When a Philadelphia husband comes home late his wife makes him say, "Claxton, Remsen and Haffelfinger," which is a book-publishing firm in that city.

An Ohio father who sent his daughter to a university where both sexes are admitted says she was perfectly willing to stay there, but he can't see that she learned much except to sigh about the house like a sick kitten.

The Nashville Union and American says: "During the late cholera excitement, the enterprising and ingenious masculines of a village about ten miles from this city effectually warded off the dread disease by wearing small bags of assafœtida tied under their nasal organs, and thoroughly waxing their moustaches with tar. They are now employing their leisure time with efforts to remove the tar."

Senator Carpenter, indulging his propensity for high moralizing, said in a recent speech that "the laxity of life is restrained by the supervision of a wife." That depends a good deal on the character of the wife who does the supervision. Over in Chicago, for instance, it is sometimes necessary to employ a policeman to supervise the supervision of the supervisor.

General Jas. W. Robertson, General Superintendent of the Macon and Brunswick Railroad, has just issued a circular stating that, in order to give the Macon merchants a reasonable advantage over competing points for trade along the line of his road, it has been determined to give them reduced car load rates on corn, oats, corn meal, flour, hay and bacon, from Macon to points along the line of the road.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Wesleyan Female College, of Macon, held on Tuesday last, Hon. Barnard Hill, chairman, it was resolved to leave a page in their record book blank, and inscribe thereon—"Rev. Lovick Pierce, D.D., absent for the first time in thirty-five years." What a touching and beautiful tribute is this to the rare fidelity and unshaken zeal of this venerable father in Christ. How ought it to quicken and inspire with noble purposes younger men in the ministry, that the interests of the church may not suffer in the withdrawal from active services of such faithful and earnest workers as Dr. Pierce. The Rev. Doctor has been sick in Columbus for several weeks. Columbus Sun.

The Father of a Triplet Suicides in Nashville.

A Great Jail Delivery in Arkadelphia, Arkansas—Stirring News from Mexico.

Special dispatches to the Courier-Journal.]

NASHVILLE, July 21.—A colored boy, fourteen years old, named Henry Taylor, was burned to death six miles north of Nashville Saturday afternoon by the explosion of an oil can, from which he was pouring oil on a slow fire. He ran out of the house a distance of twenty-five yards, leaping a fence. On the way every stitch of clothing was burned from his body, which was frightfully charred. He lived an hour, remaining sensible until death.

Joseph Hastings suicided near Petersburg, Lincoln county, Sunday, by cutting his throat. His wife found him praying some weeks ago with a rope around his neck in readiness to swing into eternity. He was immersed at the Richmond Christian Church during the prevalence of cholera in that locality. The bloody knife was found sticking in the wall of a barn in which he bled to death. He was the father of triplets, exhibited at the Nashville Exposition.

MEMPHIS, TENN., July 21.—The Appeal's special from Arkadelphia, Ark., to-night gives the following account of a grand escapade there last night: The jail here was broken into last night at 9 o'clock, which resulted in the delivery of fifteen prisoners, among them two murderers, two robbers, one horse thief and one ravisher. Seven were confined in secure dungeons, and the balance in a large open room. Parties from the outside broke into the first room, and then into the vaults or dungeons. The marshal and citizens hunted the neighboring thickets and swamps all night, and recaptured one who was maudlin drunk. Much excitement prevails. Marengo Joe is here with eleven picked desperadoes; and many suppose is implicated in relieving his patners in crime. He, however, seems perfectly composed, but if he remains here will soon ornament an Arkansas limb, suspended by well twisted hemp. Benjamin's store was broken into last night at 2 o'clock, but the burglar was detected and imprisoned.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The statement made by the San Antonio press, just received here, that the Mexican General Escobedo was marching to the Rio Grande with an entire division, is looked upon in military circles here as very important. Such a movement in so large a body of troops it is natural to suppose can not be with peaceful intent. The Mexicans have determined to retaliate for the incursion in their territory. They will give the very opportunity which our annexationis's have been so anxiously awaiting; for nothing would delight Secretary Belknap and the President more than an attack by the Mexicans on our forces. That would be the signal for an advance along the whole line. Rumors were current to-day that a heavy battle had already been fought between Mackenzie's forces and the Mexicans, and that Mackenzie had been killed. These rumors, were not, however, credited by the War Department officials. It is thought, however, by them that stirring intelligence from the Mexican border may now be looked for at almost any time.

Government Direction of Distilleries.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued a circular to the collectors of internal revenue in relation to fruit distillation, which provides that a true survey of each distillery must be made and delivered to the distiller on or before the day of commencing operations. Should distillers desire to run on an old survey collectors must notify the Commissioner. Distillers are required to make monthly reports promptly, showing the time operated each day and correctly showing the quantity and kinds of material used. Where one or more kinds of materials are used on the same day the commutation of the 80 per cent. will be made on the material having the greatest capacity. The survey of every fruit distillery must be for its full capacity, and if one or more of the stills are not for use a notice of reduction must be forwarded to the Commissioner.

Efforts to Compromise Failed.

The Constitution's Latest Telegram.

COLUMBUS, July 23—10½ P. M.

Reports of a duel between Major J. F. Waddell, Solicitor of Russell county, Alabama, and Mr. Thomas J. Phillips, of Atlanta, have been rife through the city. The latter is a merchant of Atlanta, and Major Waddell was commander of a Confederate Battalion of Artillery during the war. The difficulty is supposed to have grown out of an article written by Major Waddell reflecting upon the late Mr. Phillips, killed at Opelika.

DEPARTURE FROM COLUMBUS.

The parties with their seconds, surgeons, mutual friends, and weapons, left on a steamer for

NEAL'S LANDING, FLORIDA,

where the challenge is to be delivered. Information has reached here that the boat left Eufaula this morning and has below which there is no telegraph line. The boat that arrives at Fort Gaines early to-morrow morning may bring news from the hostile parties.

At Eufaula attempts at compromise were made without success.

Neal's Landing was doubtless reached at 3 P. M., this afternoon.

It is understood that Major Waddell

Capt. Pennis Drowned—Refusal of the Pardon of Pickett.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A dispatch to the Navy Department from St. Johns, New Brunswick, announces the arrival of the Tigress there to-day. All were well. She will sail Saturday morning.

Captain Pennis, of Illinois, was drowned while bathing at West Point yesterday.

Attorney General Williams refused to recommend a pardon in the case of James Pickett, of Idaho, who is sentenced to be hung in that territory on Thursday. In August of 1872, Pickett dealt a blow with a miner's pick on the skull of an Indian woman, killing her almost instantly. He was arraigned and tried by the civil authorities of Idaho and sentenced to death, it being the first case where a white man has been sentenced to suffer the extreme penalty of the law for the murder of a redskin.

Nothing New From the Goss Murder Case—Udersock's Mother Spends an Hour with Him.

WESTCHESTER, July 23.—Nothing new has been developed in the Goss murder case within the past two days, except the finding of the person who shipped the body to Baltimore, which was found in the ruins of the burned building.

Uddersock's mother spent an hour with him this morning. Most of the time was spent in prayer by his mother, who believes her son to be guilty, yet hopes in his ability to prove his innocence. He is calm and collected. Dresses himself with care, and is polite to the last degree with all callers.

Rhodes, his brother-in-law, has not been arrested as reported, nor will he be, as no evidence can be obtained against him.

The Germans Evacuating French Soil.

PARIS, July 23.—It was officially announced to-day that the fortified town of Mezieres, the capital of the department of the Ardennes, and Charleville, on the opposite side of the river Meuse in the same department, were evacuated last night by the German forces which have occupied them since the conclusion of the war.

The staff of General Manteufel, the commander of the army of occupation, will remain at Nancy for a short time. After its departure from the city, the Verdun district will be the only territory occupied by the German troops.

The Carlists Make a Formal Demand for Their Rights.

PARIS, July 23.—The Carlists have made a demand of France for a recognition of their rights as belligerents. The French government has refused, and declares that it will remain perfectly neutral. In accordance with this policy, it has forbidden the Spanish Republicans from rendering succor to Puycerda, by way of Port Vendres, a French town on the Mediterranean Sea.

Colonel of the Civil Guard Deserts to the Carlists.

BAYONNE, July 23.—The remains of General Cabrinetty, who was killed in the engagement near Ripall, between the Republicans and Carlists, will be brought to this city.

The inhabitants of Utrera have defeated and taken two guns from an insurgent column, which marched out of Seville, to carry into effect the declaration of independence. As the insurgent iron-clad Vittoria was sailing from Alicante, a German frigate which was lying in the harbor got up steam and followed her out, by order from the German legation at Madrid.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

Correspondence Touching the Case of the Virginius.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The correspondence has been published covering the recent action of the American Consul, the Commander of the gunboat Kansas and Spanish Commander Autram of the Spanish gunboat Bazan, in regard to the sailing of the steamer Virginius from Aspinwall under escort of the gunboat Kansas. Commander Autram claims that the Virginius by landing arms and ammunition in Cuba for the insurgents had laid that vessel liable to capture by the Spanish authorities at any time after the commission of such alleged violation of international law; but Commander Reed, of the Kansas held that the running of a blockade only laid the vessel liable to capture while in the act, and that the penalty of such an act could not follow escape. Consul Thorington, in response to query from Commander Reed, said the Virginius had the right to fly the American flag, quoting as a precedent the action of Minister Hurlbut in April, 1872, when the latter requested the Kansas to escort the Virginius from the harbor of Aspinwall. On the 29th of June, Captain Rockendorf, of the Canandaiqua, which had just arrived, ordered the Kansas to escort the Virginius from the harbor, which was done, the Bozan making no demonstration, but Commander Autram denounced the Virginius as a pirate, and has officially informed his government of the affair.

The action of the American fleet is indorsed by Secretary Robeson.

THE TRIAL OF GLIONE.

WHAT THE COURT THINKS OF HIM.

HE IS COMMITTED IN DEFAULT OF BAIL.

NEW HAVEN, July 23.—At the trial of Glione, the Italian Padrone, before the City Court to-day, four boys testified that they had been in this country for 21 months, and had been kept in the Crosby street den in New York till they were brought to New Haven, seven weeks ago; that they were beaten and kicked unless they brought in a prescribed sum of money every night, and were told by Glione to steal if they could not earn the money.

The contracts under which the Padrone claims a right to hold the boys were translated and laid before the court, and it appeared that the boy's services had been sold to him by the parents for four or five years, at an average rate of about twenty dollars per year, and that with the provision that the parents should pay for medical services, and should forfeit the wages and a fine of eighty dollars if the boys should run away during the term of services. The recent Italian laws on this subject, also laid before its court, the statute under which Glione had been indicted was passed in 1854 for the purpose of nullifying the fugitive slave law, but was never used for that purpose. The penalty is State prison from two to five years. The court held that Glione is guilty of imprisoning free persons with intent to keep them in a state of servitude against their will. He was committed in default of bond to answer the charge in October.

Her husband, John McBride, was knocked down with a club and received seven severe cuts on the head. When found this evening, he was lying on the floor weltering in his blood but living. The old people lived alone, and were supposed to have a large sum of money. Three thousand dollars were found in the house. No clue has been obtained to the murderers.

CUTTING AFFRAY IN CONYERS.—We learn that on Tuesday night a Mr. Farmer and a Mr. Harden, both residing in Conyers, for amusement, began a trial of strength and agility in the way of a wrestle, boxing, etc., which progressed till they became angry, resulting first in a severe fight and ending in the use of a knife by Farmer, who inflicted a very severe and a very ugly wound—though not specially dangerous—on the side of Harden's face, which very narrowly missed a vital point. We are told that both parties had too much of the "overjoyful" on board.

NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS OF THE GEORGIA ZOUAVES.—The following officers were elected last night:

May the little plants that gather around them grow luxuriantly, and the birds all of pleasure bask in their shade.

Howell C. Glenn has been invited to deliver the annual address before the Cherokee High School, on the 2d of August.

THE LAST SENSATION, or the latest joke, is that an Atlanta paper will run an engine on the Atlanta and West Point road to deliver its mail. Of course the thing is absurd, and can't be kept up. If it is kept up, and there is any advantage whatever in it, we can readily charter an engine, and will undoubtedly do so. But that engine can't be kept running; and, furthermore, THE CONSTITUTION, for the few days that the engine does run, will certainly be several hours ahead of any other paper here, with the latest telegraphic markets. Let our readers take notice.

WATER WORKS.—Last evening two of our Water Commissioners—Colonel G. W. Adair and Dr. C. L. Redwine, accompanied by Capt John A. Grant, the Chief Engineer of the Georgia Western Railroad, went out on horseback to South River inspecting the stream for some distance, and the country between here and there, over which the water would have to be brought, if South river is chosen as a source of supply.

We are glad to find the commissioners taking an interest in this important matter, and learn that practical and determinate surveys will be made at an early day. We have no doubt the commissioners will adopt the most economical and efficient plan, and that the people will be satisfied with it.

OUR COLLEGES.

Commencement at Emory College

The Alumni Address

By Professor Cosby W. Smith on Tuesday afternoon was pronounced by all who heard it the best treat of the commencement. It was full of wit, humor, common sense and instruction. The experience of the students of old Mrs. Emory, will not be forgotten by those who heard it. One gentleman was so [illegible] that he wanted Professor Smith to be appointed Alumni orator as long as he lived.

After the address, Bishop Pierce informed the audience as to the condition of Emory College. They had built one out building and had the material for another all paid for, that he wanted to raise enough to build the Chapel next year. The Bishop then called for subscriptions, and the sum of $2,500 was soon raised. Atlanta subscribed liberally. Considerable enthusiasm was gotten up, and excellent speeches were made by Rev. A. G. Haygood and Dr. A. Means.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

Early in the morning, vehicles of all kinds commenced pouring in from the country, and by eleven o'clock the church was crowded by the beauty and fashion of Oxford, Covington and surrounding country—hundreds could not get in. The following young gentlemen spoke:

W. N. Sheats, 2d Honor, Quitman, Ga Greek Salutatory.
J W Frederick, Marshallville, Ga. Reverence for Old Opinions.
J. W. Harris, Cartersville, Ga. Influence of the Imagination.
George B. Jewett, Macon, Ga. Liberty of the Press.
J. H. Lewis, Greensboro, Ga. What am I to Do?
H A Mathews, Fort Valley, Ga, The Morals, the M.n.
W R Pool, 3d Honor, Buford, Ga. Science and Religion.
F H Richardson, 4th Honor, Atlanta, Ga. Inductive Philosophy.
W N Sheats, Quitman, Ga. Doubt.
O L Smith, Macon, Ga. Esthetical Education.
J T Van Horne, Columbus, Ga. Classical Knowledge.
E M Whiting, Madison, Ga. A Lesson from History.
Chas. E. Dowman, first Honor, Atlanta, Ga. Valedictory.

Where all did so well it is not proper to discriminate. Atlanta, to-day, was again prominent, and bore off her full share of the honors.

The Baccalaureate address, by the President, was just like the President himself—sound, serious, practical and replete with good advice.

He spoke of the frivolities of the day and the tendency of the age to vice. He advised the graduates to go to work and try all in their power to correct this evil, and imitate the example of their fathers who were free from these vices.

The following young gentlemen received their diplomas:

Baldwin, M. H., Jr., Dawson, Georgia.
Chambers, P. F., Oswichee, Alabama.
Dowman, Chas. E., Atlanta, Georgia.
Foote, W. R., Jr., Decatur, Georgia.
Frederick, T. W., Marshallville, Georgia
Hammons, R. A. Loganville, Georgia.
Harris, J. W., Jr, Cartersville, Georgia.

Tigner, Wm. H., Talbotton, Georgia.
Van Horn, J. T., Columbus, Georgia.
Whiting, E. M. Madison, Georgia.
Wynn, J. O. A., Americus, Georgia.

The Degree of A. M. was conferred on Rev. A. M. Campbell, Los Angelos, California; G. W. Gleaton, J. R. Rollins, C. M. Verdell, I. N. Mansen, R. E. Park.

Honorary A. M. on W. H. Allen, L. W. F. Lowery, Robert Wynn.

Degree of D.D. was conferred on Rev. J. C. Wills, Missouri: Rev. L. S. Burkhead, North Carolina; Rev. R. K. Hargroves, Tennessee.

With these exercises and the address of Dr. Harrison, closed one of the most pleasant and satisfactory commencements that has ever taken place at Old Emory.

We noticed upon the stage the following prominent gentlemen:

Col. Chambers, of Columbus, Hon. John B Jones, of Burke, Rev. A G Haygood, Rev. J Watt Harris, Rev. J W Burke, Rev. F M Kennedy, D D, W P Harrison, D D, Prof. Bass, Rev. Howell H Parks, James E Evans, Rev. W H Potter, Col. N C Barnett, Rev. Joseph Key, Rev. Samuel Anthony, Rev. David Wills, Rev. W Watkins Hicks, D D, E E Rawson, Esq., Hon. J J Floyd, and others.

HOSPITALITY OF OXFORD.

The citizens threw wide their doors and invited scores to partake of the plenty of their hospitable boards. The attention and care showed by these kind and liberal hearted people, will ever be remembered by those who were the recipients.

THE COURTS.

Executions For $25,000 Issued Against Blodgett's Securities—Criminal Matters in the Commissioner's Court—Important Decision by Commissioner Smith—Habeas Corpus to be Tried Before Judge Pitman To-day.

BLODGETT'S SECURITIES.

Yesterday afternoon the Clerk of the Superior Court issued fi fas against Foster Blodgett principal, and W. Wallace Rhodes, Ephraim Tweedy, and A. L. Harris, as securities in two cases. Judge Hopkins, in his recent decision, which appeared in this paper, and which set aside Blodgett's pardon, overruled the showing which the securities made against the rule, and it became absolute. In one of the cases the fi fas are for $5,000, in the other for $20,000.

These executions will be placed immediately in the hands of the Sheriff, and if he cannot find any or sufficient property of the principal Blodgett, to satisfy them, they will be levied upon property of the securities. We presume that these cases will be carried to the Supreme Court, and that a supersedeas will be granted in the mean time, before any sale can be effected under them.

The Court of Ordinary.

Judge Pittman will, at three o'clock this afternoon, pass upon a petition of habeas corpus taken out yesterday by Mr. J. T. Finley, as attorney, for W. A. Ward. Our readers will remember that some two months ago this man Ward was committed to jail from Justice Butt's Court upon the charge of passing counterfeit money in Walton county. The commitment expressed upon its face that the prisoner was to be safely kept until an officer should be sent for him from Walton county. This officer has not yet appeared, and the counsel for Ward will try to have him discharged upon the ground that his further detention would be illegal.

The Commissioner's Court.

John Stokes, of Cobb county, was tried before Commissioner W. H. Smith yesterday for retailing whisky without paying the special tax. The evidence showed that John Stokes was working a plantation belonging to Dr. Hape, and had in his employ some dozen or so laborers. Last Christmas they wanted some whisky, and the defendant procured two gallons, which he distributed out to them by quarts and pints, and charged them with the cost of the liquor. Under this showing, the Commissioner dismissed the warrant, as to have bound over the prisoner would have virtually decided that a planter could not dispose of supplies to his own hands.

The Justices' Courts.

The only one of our local magistrates who did any business yesterday was Justice Hammond. He spent most of the day in the trial of a possessory warrant case between D. A. McBride and Edward Cox. The subject of the controversy was a buggy. After lengthy evidence and argument the court gave the buggy to the plaintiff. Messrs. Findley and Fry for plaintiff; Major George Hillyer contra.

Station House Report.

The police made three arrests yesterday. All for disorderly conduct and drunkenness.

ON 'CHANGE.—At the meeting On 'Change yesterday, [illegible] loss in loose bulk meats shipped from Louisville reported that a [illegible] loss on [illegible] bulk meats shipped in May and coming through without delay was three-fourths of one per cent. Anything over one per cent. they considered excessive.

J. A. Ansley exhibited samples of 1,000 bags of coffee at prices ranging from 16¼ to 19½c in gold.

A NATIVE REVOLVER MOVES A RASCAL—STAND NOT UPON HIS ORDER OF GOING.—About half three o'clock yesterday morning, Dr. H. L. Wilson, who resides upon the corner of Peachtree and Baker streets, was awakened from his slumbers by hearing a noise in his bed-room. His first impression was that some of the children were making the noise, and his wife, who had also been aroused suggested that it was a puppy that had got in the bed.

The Doctor raised up and looked over the foot board of the bed, suspecting that something was wrong reached back and got his pistol, a navy revolver. As he did so he saw a man pass out of the [illegible] Doctor [illegible] the verandah in a crouching attitude, evidently waiting for him to go to sleep again in order to resume operations.

The Doctor instantly brought his navy to bear, but as he was compelled to fire from a very cramped position he unfortunately missed. The burglar leaped from the verandah to the ground, the doctor firing a second shot at him as he did so. The man then darted around the house, and before Doctor Wilson could get to the side window to fire again, he heard him, some distance off, running down the pavement. It [illegible] An examination of the room showed that the scoundrel had searched the pockets of the Doctor and his wife.

From the former he stole a quarter. From the latter he took some keys and opened the bureau drawers. He removed several boxes containing jewelry, but was frightened before he could carry them off. He did, however, get 75 cents out of a portmonie, making one dollar in all. The want of a stronger police force upon this ward is needed badly; although two shots were fired the officer on duty did not hear them and failed to make his appearance. We learn that in the earlier part of last night the residence of Mr. James E. Wylie was also entered, but the burglar again only secured one dollar.

THE CITY CEMETERY.—Editors Constitution: An article in a city paper yesterday, on the City Cemetery, would indicate that Muldoon & Co., Louisville, Kentucky, has furnished the majority of fine monuments in our cemetery. I have a great aversion to appear in anything like a public communication in anything whatever, and would hardly notice the above had it not been for the unfairness it displayed. "Give a lie two days the start of truth, and it becomes a fact of history," and those who are unacquainted with these matters would infer that nothing in the monumental line could be procured from any one except Muldoon & Co., or from Italy. With the exception of the proposed Brown monument, and three others, Muldoon & Co. has put up no monumental work in our cemetery, unless two or three small headstones could be counted as such. And only one of the monuments is really good; I mean the one for Mr. Redwine. I do not wish to make any unfair comparisons on anyone or their work, but it does seem that if a monument is not executed either in some Northern city, or in Italy, it can have no merit whatever, and as long as this opinion is indulged in there is a very poor chance for home improvement. But among the eighteen or twenty monuments which myself and former partner have erected in our cemetery, amounting in the aggregate to $12,000 worth, I would cite you to two monuments which were executed by two young men born and raised in the neighborhood, and have served their apprenticeship faithfully in this city—I allude to the one erected over the grave of Miss Luckie, of white American marble; and the one over the grave of Jacob Rokenbaugh, of Italian marble; if there is any monumental work in the cemetery from Louisville superior to them, outside of statues, I would like to see it. It is bad enough to have to pay license to our city authorities for permission to do business, and a large amount to the county and State on our stock in trade, and have to compete with these from other cities in the North, who pay no tax whatever, and then have one of our city editors puff them up as the only parties worthy of patronage. Perhaps their reporter did not intend doing injustice in this matter, but the result to our disadvantage is the same, and more especially should such communications be guarded in their criticisms where the writer is not competent to judge with impartiality in the merits of the matter he is trying to explain.
Respectfully yours,
WM. GRAY.

MILT. MALONE.

His Views of the Situation—"I will Die Like a Man"—A Mother's Love.

A correspondent of the Columbus Enquirer recently visited Fulton County Jail and in describing the jail and its inmates thus speaks of

MILT. MALONE.

A young man of about twenty-eight years rose to meet me. His form was slender and emaciated; his face pale, very pale; his deep-set eyes looked out from their hollow sockets and met mine enquiringly. I gave him my name and place of residence, saying I had heard of his being there and had called to see him. He stretched out a thin, white hand—that bloody hand, that hand that had more than once felt the warm droppings of a fellow's heart-blood. I took it in mine. I grasped it firmly. The stain could not be transferred.

I will not ask you to listen to a rehearsal of his own account of himself. I feel as if I want to hurry on from scenes that even now lacerate my own sensibilities. He showed me avenues of crime that I had never seen. When he had finished I asked if he felt no remorse—if he did not sometimes recall the face of the dying man. "No," he replied stoically. "I would not know either of them were I to meet them alive now. In this last affair I did not even know whom I had killed until the next morning."

HIS FATHER AND MOTHER.

"Yes," he answered, "though not regularly. Some of my letters miscarry. A plot is suspected. My father often comes to see me. I am an only child. I have been a wild boy, have given them much pain. But whatever I am and have been I love them. It is because I know they suffer that my fate is so hard. I do not care for myself."

"Have you their photograph?" I asked, looking round at the wall hung with a few frameless paper pictures.

He opened a trunk upon which he had been sitting and handed me a little pocket containing the

TWO FACES AND A SLIP OF PAPER.

I held the pictures up to the sheet of light that came in through the narrow window. They looked down on that reckless and wretched man in an eloquent complaint. They rested fondly on the sweet-eyed, laughing prattler—the boy of promise—the rosy-faced, tender youth. Those speaking eyes asked where he was, and fixed their steady stare on the prisoner under the awful sentence of the broken law, "Thou shalt not kill." I was returning them with the unopened slip of paper, when he told me that was something his mother sent him. I opened a little poem, headed,

"IF."

If sitting with this little worn-out shoe
And scarlet stocking lying on my knee,
I knew the little feet that pattered through
The pearl-set gates that lie 'twixt Heaven and me,
I could be reconciled, and happy, too,
And looked with glad eyes toward the jasper sea.

If in the morning, when the song of birds
Reminds us of a music far more sweet,
I listened for his pretty broken words
And for the music of his dimpled feet,
I could be almost happy, though I heard
No answer, and saw but his vacant seat.

I could be glad if, when the day is done,
And all its cares and heartaches laid away,
I could look westward to the hidden sun,
And with a heart full of deep yearning say:
"To-night I'm nearer to my little one
By just the travel of a single day."

If I could know those little feet were shod
In sandals wrought of light in better lands,
And that the footprints of a tender God
Ran side by side with his in golden sands,
I could bow cheerfully and kiss the rod
Since Benny was in wiser, better hands.

If he were dead I would not sit to-day
And stain with tears the wee sock on my knee,
I would not kiss the tiny shoe and say:
"Bring back my little boy to me!"
I would be patient, knowing 'tis God's way,
And that He'd lead me to him o'er death's silent sea.

But, oh! to know the feet once pure and white
The haunts of vice have boldly ventured in!
The hands that should have battled for the right
Have been wrung crimson in the paths of sin!
And should he knock at Heaven's door to-night,
I fear my boy could hardly enter in!

I read it over twice, and wondered how often he had read it, and if it did not quite break down all his stoicism. Before returning it I asked for a copy, which he cheerfully gave.

THE FUTURE.

Do you know it is thought impossible for you to obtain a new trial?

"Yes," he replied, "but I have not the shadow of a doubt but that I shall, and that I will be cleared. If I die, I shall sink by the hand of prejudice, not justice."

But if the worst comes?

"I will meet it like a man."

Have you ever been a member of the church? Don't you think it would be safer to be ready for any issue?

"I will die like a man."

THE GEORGIA WESTERN RAILWAY.

Colonel Hulbert's Reply to Colonel Grant.

Practice Against Theory.

Editors Constitution;

GENTLEMEN—In your issue of the 18th inst. Colonel [illegible] Grant in a communication [illegible] Georgia Western, published in your journal of July 14th, opens his article as follows:

"In your issue of Sunday last, Colonel Hulbert seeks to embarrass and discredit the Georgia Western Railroad Company, under the flimsy pretext of discussing the advantages of a narrow gauge over the standard gauge."

Colonel Grant is mistaken in supposing that I seek "to embarrass and discredit the Georgia Western Railway Company," and in reply to this charge, I beg leave to refer him to my letter of May 3d, 1871, in favor of the road.

[illegible] that date, and I leave [illegible] to determine what influence it had in arousing the people of Atlanta to a proper estimate of its importance.

In referring to it he says:

"The letter from which these extracts are taken, is supposed to have been from the pen of that able writer and statistician, J. S. Peterson, Esq., supervised by Colonel Hulbert, and published over his signature."

I'm the author of that letter referred to by Colonel G. Colonel Peterson neither saw nor knew anything of it until it appeared in print.

Doubtless Colonel Grant is the author of the articles which have appeared over his signature. It certainly would illy become me to question it.

I advocate the narrow gauge for the Georgia Western because I believe it to be for the best interest of Atlanta to do so, and because it is the only plan by which she can build and control it. Colonel Grant says:

"Let not our citizens be deceived by specious arguments and false figures of cheap transportation on narrow gauge railways. It costs as much to transport a ton over a three feet gauge railway, as over a five feet gauge railway, the grades and curvature being the same on both. It requires the same power to move a ton on each, and that power costs the same on each. It costs more per ton of train to direct that power on the narrow than the wider gauge. The cost and maintenance of motive power for a given tonage, is greater on the narrow than on the wider gauge. The cost and maintenance of rolling stock for a given tonage is about the same on the one as on the other."

Believing that the people of Atlanta prefer practice to theory, and that they are open to reason in this, as well as all other questions effecting their interests, I only will not present my views on the gauge question, but will give those of practical railway men, experts, whose opinions and official statements are entitled to credence.

I have before me the first annual report of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company, dated April 1, 1873, and quote from the same:

"Although the road, as already stated, has been under construction the entire year, and its resources subordinated to the requirements of extending the road-bed and track, and putting them in good working condition, so that its commercial business was not fairly organized, yet the earnings from transportation for the year, counting that of construction material at cost, was ... $308,138 82
Or deducting construction material ... 26,738 53
And the operating expenses. $201,944 85—
Deducting the cost of transporting material for extending the road ... 26,738 58— 175,206 32
Net ... $106,193 97

The earnings and expenses of operating the portion opened of the Arkansas branch for two months are included in the above. After deducting these, the earnings of the main line, on an average distance of one hundred miles, over which business trains ran during the year, amount to ... $274,421 73
And the expenses to ... 170,354 33
Leaving of net earnings. $104,067 40
Which was placed to the credit of, and has reduced by that amount, the cost of interest during construction.

"During the three winter months, January to March 1873, inclusive, since the railway company began to operate the road, the gross earnings of the main line, 118 miles, have been ... $81,145 78
And the expenses ... 44,289 63
Net earnings ... $36,855 55

"And for the month of March, 1873, the gross earnings on the main line (118 miles) were ... $32,368 98
And the expenses ... 15,025 80
Net earnings ... $17,543 18

"The proportion of expenses to earnings on the main line for the first three months of 1872, have been 54 per cent."

"This being a light winter business, it of course considerably exceeds a proper average for the year."

"In March the proportion was diminished to 46 per cent."

Since March the operating expenses have been reduced to 40 per cent. of the gross earnings.

The average operating expenses of our Southern broad gauge railways for 1872-'73 was 65 4-10 per cent., while that of the Georgia roads was 70½ per cent. of their gross earnings, or 30½ per cent. in favor of the Denver and Rio Grande narrow gauge road.

Or taking Gen. Palmer's estimated expenses of 50 per cent. for his road for 1873, we still have a saving of 20½ per cent. in favor of the narrow gauge over that of our Georgia roads, and 15 4-10 per cent. over that of our Southern roads.

The gross earnings of the Georgia roads for 1873 were about $7,678,864. A saving of 20 per cent. per annum on this amount would be $1,533,772, for ten years $15,337,280, and for twenty years $30,715,440, a sum sufficient to build 2,193 miles narrow gauge road at $14,000 per mile.

I apprehend that our citizens with these practical facts before them will hesitate long before they accept theory in place thereof. An ounce of practice is worth a pound of theory.

Georgia has 58,000 square miles of territory, with 1,215,000 inhabitants, and about one mile of railroad for each 25 square miles of territory, or about one mile of road to every 500 inhabitants.

Massachusetts has about one mile of road to 4½ square miles of territory; Pennsylvania, one mile to 8½ square miles; Illinois, one to 8½ square miles, and New Jersey, one mile to 6 square miles of territory.

If Georgia would approximate these States in wealth and power, she must extend her railway system to all parts of her territory.

Georgia requires at least 3,003 additional miles of railway, which, at $24,000 per mile, will cost $48,000,000, while the narrow gauge, at $14,000 per mile, would cost only $28,000,000, a saving of $20,000,000. Add the saving of $30,715,440 for twenty years, and we have 50,715,440, a sum more than sufficient to build and equip 2,000 miles of broad gauge road at $24,000 per mile, or 3,622 miles narrow gauge at $14,000 per mile.

The New England States have about one mile of railroad to 13½ square miles of territory.
The Middle States about 1 to 10.
The Western States about 1 to 30.
The Southern States about 1 to 55.

The railways of the New England States have cost about 50,418 per mile.
Those of the Middle States about $79,487.
Those of the Western States about $[illegible].
Those of the Southern States about $36,675.
Those of the Pacific States about $[illegible].

While those of Georgia have cost about $24 657, or $25,000 per mile in round numbers.

The Denver and Rio Grande Road—3 feet gauge—has cost about $14,000 per mile, or a saving from $9,000 to $10,000 per mile on the cost of the Georgia roads.

Suppose we estimate the cost of the Georgia Western narrow gauge at $16,000 per mile, and the broad gauge at $23,000, we have a difference in favor of the narrow gauge of $7,000 per mile, or a total of $1,085,000.

Are we so rich that we can afford to make this unnecessary investment? Are our agricultural, commercial and manufacturing interests so prosperous that they can afford to pay the comparatively high rates of transportation that the broad gauge from its great cost, having operating expenses and interest account, is necessarily compelled to charge? Are we so [illegible] that we can afford [illegible] 20 per cent. more than is necessary to operate our roads?

Would it not be the part of wisdom, of common business sense, to adopt a cheaper railway system, with its smaller cost, light operating expenses and interest account, and consequent cheaper rates of transportation?

The total receipts or earnings of the railways in Georgia for 1872-'73, were a little less than $5,500 per mile.

Will any man question but that if this business had been done by railways costing from $7,000 to $10,000 per mile less than our present system, that it would have affected a large saving in the cost of transportation, and that our people would have been benefited to that extent, [illegible]

Our railway system must be extended until it reaches every portion of our territory, until every section is supplied with railway facilities.

Shall we expend $24,000 per mile to accomplish this [illegible] or will we [illegible] adopt a system costing from $7,000 to $10,000 per mile less?

If Atlanta is to become a great trade centre, and successfully maintain herself as such, she must provide both inward and outward transportation to and from her market at lower rates of freight than her competitors. This alone will accomplish it, and nothing else can.

With a cheaper system of railways as an entering wedge, with its reduced rates of freight, followed by the completion of the proposed canal, with still lower rates of transportation, she can and will become a great trade centre.

Her present trade circle is circumscribed by discriminations in favor of competing cities.

"ON CHANGE."

"A committee consisting of John Stephens, J. R. Butler and W. G. Garrett, were appointed to confer with the Atlanta and West Point and Montgomery and West Point Railroads relative to discriminations in freight between Atlanta and points in Alabama."—Constitution, 23d.

As before remarked, Atlanta's trade circle can only be generally extended by cheaper rates of freight both inward and outward. Are our railways prepared to do this? Can they do so and maintain themselves? Are they not already working cheaper than they can really afford to do? Are their stockholders paid dividends commensurate with the ruling rates for money?

In justice to stockholders, rates of freight should be advanced, but the public demands a reduction, and thus it is that our railway managers are placed between two fires. We quote further from Gen. Palmer's Report;

"The results of operation for the year 1873, as well as in cost of construction, have been entirely satisfactory, and completely vindicate the judgment of the company in deciding upon a gauge of three feet for its system. Not to make this report too long, the remarks upon this question are placed in the Appendix, page 43, to which the reader is respectfully referred:"

"APPENDIX"—"NARROW GAUGE."

"This company has saved about 87½ per cent. in the first cost of construction and equipment of its road by reason of the adoption of a gauge of 3 feet instead of 4 feet 8½ inches."

"This is a clear saving, because the road is equally well built in every respect, and its capacity as great as though it had been of the wider gauge."

"As for the increase of business from year to year, requiring additional equipment and extension of side tracks, there will continue to be a large saving over the other gauge in the outlays necessary to carry this increase of traffic."

"The trains—passenger and freight—have been run at the same rates of speed which have prevailed on the Pacific lines, and on all the other broad gauge lines west of the Mississippi River, and when required on special occasions have run with steadiness at 30 to 40 miles per hour."

"With concentrated or heavy freights, which constitutes on this as on nearly all railroads the great bulk of the tonnage to be transported, the advantage realized has been 35 per cent. That is to say, thirty-five hundredths more freight has been regularly carried on the narrow gauge rolling stock, with the same total weight of cars and load as on the broad gauge."

"This can be most readily seen by observing a train of sixteen loaded cars (which weigh say 8½ tons each when empty) arriving at Denver on the broad gauge roads, and their contents transferred to the Denver and Rio Grande Railway."

"The same freight is placed in 20 narrow gauge cars the empty weight of which is somewhat less than 3 tons each. The comparison will then stand as follows:

Cars, 16—broad gauge—empty weight 8½ tons each; paying load 10 tons; total dead weight 136 tons; total paying load 160 tons; total weight cars and load 196 tons.

Cars, 20—narrow gauge—empty weight less than 3 tons each; paying load 8 tons; total dead weight 60 tons; total paying load 160 tons; total weight cars and load 220 tons. Saving in total weight 76 tons. Which is equivalent, after allowing for the weight of cars necessary to carry it, to 56 tons additional freight which the narrow gauge train could take without any increase of weight over the broad gauge train."

"In other words, 35 per cent more—this is on the presumption that the cars on each gauge are fully loaded."

"But it very often happens in the ordinary course of railroad business that cars are very frequently not loaded to their capacity, in which event the narrow gauge receives proportionately greater benefit." For instance, if, from any station, there was a load of 5½ tons to carry, the narrow gauge car would weigh no more with this load than a broad gauge car would entirely empty."

"It is the case with almost any kind of freight, that whatever a car on the Denver and Rio Grande Railway holds of goods up to 5½ tons is so much clear gain to it. That is, it can carry that much in each car as cheaply as the wide gauge road can run its cars empty.

In this appendix, General Wm. J. Palmer, President Denver and Rio Grande Railway, answers several objections to the narrow-gauge by detailing the practical operations of his road. He says: "Certain inquiries naturally arise:"

1st. "Are the narrow-gauge cars too light to stand the rough usage for any length of time?"

"No; because, as all the other cars on the road are likewise light, they are not subjected to any more momentum or crushing force in proportion to their strength than a wide gauge car is where all are heavy; and further, it is a well-known fact in mechanics, that small structures are much stronger in proportion to their weight than large ones."

"Are not the cars too small to carry certain kinds of freight advantageously?"

"No, because the last year's business showed, that in average actual working the narrow gauge box car, weighing four tons, carries even:
Of wool in sacks, loose ... 5,000 pounds
Of wool in bales, loose ... 8,000 pounds
Of wagons and agricultural machinery. 9,000 pounds
Of furniture, "set up," (carried at double first-class rates, as usual ... 4,000 pounds
Of furniture, "knocked down" ... 10,000 pounds

"These are the most bulky articles which a railroad has to carry; but even of these the proportion of empty to paying weight is in favor of the narrow gauge.

"Whereas, of groceries and dry goods (assorted) the average load of a car was 12,500 pounds; and of iron, nails, hardware, lumber, timber, ties, grain and flour ores, coal, stone, lime, cord wood, and nearly all other freights it was 16,000 pounds. Upon which the advantage of 35 per cent. shown by the above calculation is fully realized."

3. "Can cattle and horses be carried?"

"Yes. The stock cars already built are 6½ feet wide, 28 feet long, weight 8,500 pounds, and carry nine head of cattle. The animals stand length wise with the car, which is better for them than sidewise, as they can steady themselves more readily."

"The comparison with the broad gauge is as follows;

	Empty weight.	No. of cattle.	Dead weight of car to animal.
Wide gauge cattle car, 30 feet long, 8 feet wide inside.	19,000	14	1,357 lbs.
Narrow gauge cattle car, 6½ feet wide, 28 feet long.	8,500	9	994 lbs

"Saving about 30 per cent."

4. "Is the gauge well adapted to passenger travel?"

"The cars are comfortable, well ventilated, handsomely fitted up, and the 25,000 passengers who passed over the road last year certainly rode as steadily, and as far as could be judged, altogether as satisfactorily as on any wide gauge road."

5. "Can sleeping cars be used?"

"Yes, with much greater advantage than on the wide gauge, because although people unknown to each other can generally, with some effort be made to sit on the same seat, they cannot be made to sleep in the same bed."

6. "How about speed and safety?"

"As before stated, the trains, both freight and passenger, run on the Denver and Rio Grande Railway at the same rate of speed as on all the wide gauge roads west of the Mississippi River. As regards safety, the cars are no more likely to upset than on the broad gauge, because the centre of gravity has been greatly lowered."

7. "Is a positive advantage claimed from the reduction of the carrying capacity of a car below what it now is on wide gauge roads?"

"Yes, it so frequently has to go partially loaded in the practical every day working of the business that it would be better if it were smaller. The railroads in the United States carry at least four times as much total weight yearly as of freight load. The capacity of the narrow gauge car even exceeds the average actual load of the broad gauge."

8. "Is the power of the locomotive affected?"

"The experience had on the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, as that of the much narrower Festiniog Railroad, shows that it is certainly not diminished by the narrowing of the gauge."

9. "Is not the length of the train increased by the necessity of using more cars for the same tonnage on the narrow gauge?"

"No; not in the case of the great bulk of articles which a railroad has to carry. For instance, the sixteen wide gauge cars, cited before, carrying 160 tons, are each about 30 feet long, or 480 feet total while the twenty narrow gauge cars, carrying the same load, are 24 feet long each, or 480 feet total."

"To sum up—When the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company was ready to start the construction of its road, and it became necessary to decide upon the gauge, the following condition of affairs was observed upon the wide gauge roads west of the Mississippi River, and to a great extent, throughout the United States:"

1. "That the weight of an ordinary freight car was from 8 to 9 tons, [illegible] from 8 to 10 net tons of freight, (when fully loaded.)"

2. "That the empty weight of a passenger car on these roads was, from 15 to 18 or 20 tons, to carry 56 passengers, (when fully occupied,) and that of a sleeping car was 25 and more generally 30 tons, to sleep 28 persons."

3. "But that while this was the capacity of the respective cars, yet that in the exigencies of business compelling quick delivery of goods, and from the inequality of trade in direction either regularly or varying with the different seasons of the year, requiring many cars to be sent back but partially loaded or entirely empty, that the average load of the freight cars throughout the United States, for every mile they ran, did not exceed three tons; of the passenger day car less than 20 persons, and of the sleeping car not over 10."

"It must also be evident how seriously the development of a country, and the consequent growth of business to the line, would be retarded by the necessity of establishing high rates of transportation, because of the heavier weight to carry, and the greater annual load of interest."

"The result of this outlook was to convince the company that it was best to take the bull by the horns, and having settled upon the general character of the car which would have the best proportion for economy and efficiency, and weigh the least in proportion to the load it would practically have to carry to adopt a gauge as narrow as would safely and advantageously carry this vehicle."

"If we had been projecting a road to carry stone houses, I suppose we should have adopted a broader gauge, and if we had expected to carry nothing but feathers, we might have been a little doubtful about the soundness of our floor surface. But the road was not expected to rely upon either of these extreme articles for its business, and the gauge was adopted which would carry most advantageously the articles known to commerce.

"We have explained the reasons which induced the company to adopt the gauge of three feet, and show how it has operated on the road thus far, but have refrained from polemical discussion, holding in wholesome veneration the thirty years' war between Stephenson and Brunel, with their followers, and will here leave the subject until still further actual experience has enabled us to state something new."
WM. J. PALMER.

Here then we have the practical experience of General Palmer, for many years connected with the Pennsylvania Railway Company, as to the superiority of the narrow gauge in point of first cost, operating expenses, interest account, and capacity.

Colonel Grant further remarks:

"I do not recollect reading any publication opposing the claims of its advocates, with the single exception of a few quiet remarks by J. Edgar Thompson, Esq., President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in the last annual report to his stockholders. I have not access to the report at this time. The substance of his remarks is, that for a general system of railways, the narrow gauge has none of the merits claimed for it."

It is contemplated to extend the Denver and Rio Grande railway to the Rio Grande river, and from thence to the City of Mexico, making a grand trunk line of narrow gauge road about 1,800 miles long. J. Edgar Thompson, Esq., is a member of that company.
Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
E. HULBERT.

THE CODE-DUELLO.

Mr. Phillips and Major Waddell Off for Florida—Columbus Excited.

The Columbus Sun of yesterday morning contains the following information concerning the reported duel between Thomas J. Phillips, of this city, and Major J. F. Waddell, of Seale Station, Alabama:

For a number of days the streets have been full of rumors of a duel between Major J. F. Waddell, Solicitor of Russell county, Alabama, and a young Mr. Phillips, of Atlanta, a nephew of the man who was killed in Opelika by young Hooper. The quarrel is said to have originated from an advertisement published in this paper, commenting upon the evidence offered in the examination of young Hooper, so far as it related to the personal character of Mr. Phillips, the deceased. The Major is one of Hooper's counsel. The report states that young Phillips demanded a retraction, which Major Waddell refused.

Yesterday morning Major W. left on the Farley, Col. B. D. Lay, of Atlanta, who is acting for Phillips, with his principal, and Mr. J. F. Shecut, of Atlanta, left the city early, intending to take the same boat at Woolfolk's. Among those who took the boat here were G. D. Hooper, Esq., of Opelika, said to be Major Waddell's second; Drs. Banks, Colzey, Kirksey and Mr. T. K. Wynne. We hear that several from Seale will join the party at Eufaula.

All matters connected with the affair are kept very close, but the general report is that a challenge will be passed at Neal's Landing, in Florida, as all the parties lives outside of that State. Phillips has never registered here, and we know not his given name.

The hope is strong that the affair can be settled without a fight. Rumors are very plentiful, and we think exertion should be made to make it so.

The grape-vine rumors are almost worthless.

A telegram was received last night stating that the boat had passed Eufaula and no arrests had been made.

We again are told that one who has been advising for several weeks expresses his belief that the matter can be settled without a duel.

Private telegrams received here from from Columbus indicate the same facts.

A special telegram in our telegraphic column gives the latest information.

PLAYING A LITTLE GAME.—Between the newspaper reporters and certain classes of sympathizing citizens, Kate Stoddard the murderess of Charles Goodrich, bids fair to become a first-class heroine, some of the latter even going so far as to propose subscriptions for her. The woman herself seems to be taking things easy. Monday morning she asked the jailor to furnish her with the morning papers, and when these were handed her she sat down and eagerly read all she could find about her case, criticising as she went along. A prominent official connected with the police expresses the opinion that the woman is playing a shrewder part than most people suspect, in other words, that she never murdered Goodrich at all, and only makes believe she did to shield another individual, not yet arrested, being well assured that she will not be hanged. This theory is obtaining many converts.

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills.
I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Billious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years, and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supersede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period, not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.
I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.
Price, 50 cents a Box.
None genuine unless it bears the signature of N. C. Williams and picture of Dr. Calhoun.

ENOUGH.

BY MARIA W. JONES.

From a cleft in a rock a harebell grew,
And gathered of sunshine and rain and dew
Its measure of life, in a cup of blue.

In a cabin, out in a western wild,
A maiden bent over her work and smiled,
For "the old, old story" her heart beguiled.

The world is wide! but a bit of its earth
In the cleft of a rock gave Beauty birth
And nourishment, fitting its own sweet worth.

The world is wide! but the maiden well knew,
No heart in it all was more found and true
Than the one that her troth was plighted to.

The Pope's Health—The Repentant Queen of Spain.

New York Times' Rome letter.]

So far as concerns the Pope's health it is every day slightly mending. His general strength is not sufficiently recruited to enable him to take the active exercise which he likes so much, but he is able to take his walk, whether in his own apartment or in the garden of the Vatican. To favor the weak legs as much as possible he uses his crutch, which he prefers to depend upon rather than to lean upon the arm of an attendant.

In his visage or person there is hardly any sign that Pio Nono has suffered from illness. He preserves his goodly bulk, and at the age of 82 his face is without a wrinkle. Pius IX. is one of the cleanest men in Rome, and gives a good example of that kind of civilization to the rest of the population. The ex-Queen of Spain left Rome, a few days ago, and is now in Milan. Her ten days here were passed in visits to the Vatican, to churches and sanctuaries, kissing sacred images, and shedding tears of repentance for past sins, with promises to the saints and the Pope of amendment.

She has gone about dressed in mourning garments, and no outward act of piety has been neglected. But she has smiled through her tears at the sweet words of encouragement received from the Holy Father. The suffrages of the Vatican are divided between the Carlists and the Alfunsists, but the party of the latter is gaining, both with prelates and the Pope. The hopes of the hierarchy are founded in the dubious political condition of Spain and a restoration of the Bourbons.

Quite Enough Married.

An incident of crossing the plains in the early days was told by a clever lady at the breakfast table one morning at Frisco. A Dutchman and his wife traveled West and arrived at Salt Lake, where they halted for a few weeks. The Mormons got around the old Dutchman and coaxed him to join their ranks. After retiring one night in their canvas-covered wagon bed, the good Dutchman broke the matter to his better half, hinting to her that the Mormons told him he had better "stay, settle among dem, and take some more wives." "How many vives you tinks you vants?" asked Kathrina. The Dutchman thought "fife more vould make a half-dozen already;" whereupon the old wife got down her boddice, and slipping from it what the Dutchman called the "prestboard, vich vas made from Visconsin hickory vas very tough," and she laid the hickory fierce and fast on the old man, who shuffled out of the wagon and fell in a ditch. The old man got up, said his "stomach it vas very cold, but his back it vas very varm." His wife cried out "How many vives you tink you vants now, ould fool?" But the Dutchman felt, and expressed that one was enough.

☞ Ralph Waldo Emerson, says a Boston letter, has come back a new man in appearance. His face is fuller and ruddier than it has appeared for many a day, and his wonderful bright, almost roguish smile lights it up more frequently than before. He is promising a new literary work.

☞ Near the close of the day of a campmeeting in Oregon, a short time ago, the local preacher said; "I hope all the congregation will be here by 10 o'clock, for precisely at that hour we will pass to the creek, where I shall baptize four adults and six adulteresses."

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill.

Which purify the blood and remove all corrupt humors and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but on the contrary tones the stomach, and invigorates the body during the progress of their operation. They unite the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a STRENGTHENING PUGATIVE and PURIFYING TONIC.

Dr. Tutt's Pills are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation; they produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival. Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all Druggists. Principal office, 18 and 20 Platt St., New York.

Is the Most Powerful Cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, etc., etc.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowziness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURRUBEBA

is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties: it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

SOUTHERN REMEDY!

NO HUMBUG.

I HAVE been asked by a number of our citizens why I do not make known through our periodicals my Preparation for the cure of Dysentery, Diarrhea, Cholera Morbus and Dentition or (Cutting Teeth) of Children. Its operation and action appear to be a specific if not infallible. Nothing has ever been offered to the public as a cure for those diseases that is its equal, which by their drain upon the bowels has so often proved fatal, and by having a bottle of the SOUTHERN REMEDY in your house, and take or give it on first symptoms, you need not have fears of the much dreaded epidemic, Cholera. To be convinced of its virtue it is only necessary to purchase a bottle and use as directed on the bottle. It can be had at the Drug Store of Hunnicutt, Craig & Co., and others, and my office, Peachtree street, Powell Building. A. T. BIGGERS, M. D.
